

Electroactive Materials for Rechargeable Batteries

Technology available for licensing: Positive electrodes for secondary batteries containing lithium source material

- Method to compensate anode for initial irreversible capacity loss
- Enables lithium- deficient cathode materials through lithium source

IN-12-086

US 9012091B2

Availability: Technology available for license to organizations with commercial interest. Collaborative research is available under a Cooperative Research and Development Agreement (CRADA).

Contact: 800-627-2596; partners@anl.gov